August 22, 1963

Dear Mom and Dad,

Surprise! This time I'm not asking for money. Just wanted to write one last letter before the big day—Graduation. Seems like a million years ago since that hot September 5, 1960, when I arrived at Rex, cocky, ambitious, and woe-fully immature. Classes were in full swing shortly, with hours from 8 in the morning to 9 at night. Those cats were hard to stomach before bedtime! Early in our freshman year we began going over to the hospital. I'll never forget that first morning when I got up at 5 to make it to work, by quarter of 7!!! We dreamed of looking professional in our wrap-around aprons until our uniforms arrived. But what the heck, it was our class's one claim to fame—the first and last group to wear half an apron!

Practicing our first injections on each other was a good learning experience, but donating an arm for education is going too far. Hiking across North Carolina State College campus for classes through April showers, not only brought May flowers, but many sore throats as well. Thank heaven for salt water and Tetrazets!

The tears, the midnight oil burned writing lab reports and looking up drugs, the many bibs to be read, the Saturday morning closed study and the lack of weekends were forgotten that memorable August night. Capping was beautiful—even in the Rec Room.

As juniors we began moving into the special services, picking up a few gray hairs with each rotation. My respect for you both grew as I pulled time in the labor and delivery room, newborn nursery, and OB hall.

Our days on Pediatrics were both enjoyable and frustrating, but we were not as frustrated as our instructor the day when I let a private student joke slip and answered the phone, "Fourth floor, Peter Rabbits." Those days were packed with memories of humajects, croupettes, and growth and development as we reared our child from birth to 18 years.

With faces as green as our gowns, we marched on to the operating room where we learned many big words. I was amazed to learn that an orchidectomy was not the removal of orchids from a hot house. At the end of that three months, we wondered if our minds and our mouths would ever be as sterile as our hands!

We were then initiated into the medical-surgical sorority, I TAPPA HOPPER. From 7 in the morning until 3 in the afternoon, it was either sugar-in-the-morning, sugar-in-the-evening, and sugar-at-suppertime or turn, cough, and deep breathe.

In our spare time (?!), we scrimped and saved for the Junior-Senior, peddled Katydids, caught Santa under the mistletoe, were gently reminded to keep up our class dues, and to polish our ATTITUDES. At the end of the year, our big sisters put the finishing touch on our white caps—a black band.

Rounding third and heading for home, we were soon to find out if it were "all psychological"—we moved to the Hill. Psychoses, neuroses, mania, and depression—at last we all found a place. When the three months were over, we realized how much we would miss our new friends, the pretty tiled showers, keeping our cars, and those tremendous cockroaches.

Med-Surg III brought a comprehensive review of our two years here, but the Honky-Tonk Angels got their wings clipped and went on closed study.

Spring cleaning brought down the S.A. tapes and up went the 11-7 rotation sign—"Quiet-Night Nurse Sleeping." With the closing of pebble beach, the seniors got their Vitamin D from the synthetic sun on the bulletin board. Other ear marks of our senior year were our Emergency Room and Clinic rotations, selling ads, taking pictures, and laying out the annual.

Now that these three years here are ending, I must make a confession. All of my instructors, head nurses, and supervisors are not monsters with long fangs and purple eyes. Most of them are people who have had a great deal of concern for me.

I have been to my share of fraternity parties at State and Carolina, have gotten most of my class hours back, done more laughing than crying, and surprisingly enough learned a great deal about life. You were probably aware of this all the time, but I had to confess.

My reminising must end now for soon I shall begin a new life of memories.

With love,

Your daughter

The Nurse

The world grows better year by year,
Because some nurse in her little sphere,
Puts on her apron and grins and sings,
And keeps on doing the same old things.

Taking the temperatures, giving the pills
To remedy mankind's numberless ills;
Feeding the baby, answering the bells
Being polite with a heart that rebels.

Longing for home and all the while
Wearing the same old professional smile:
Blessing the new born babe's first breath
Closing the eyes that are still in death.

Going off duty at seven o'clock
Tired, discouraged, and ready to drop.
Exams and assignments betwixt and between
With woe in her heart, but it must not be seen,
Morning and evening, noon and night.
Just doing it over and hoping it's right.

When we lay down our caps and cross the bar,
Oh Lord, will you give us just one little star,
To wear in our crowns with our uniforms, new
In that city above, Where the Head Nurse is you.

Santa Filomena

SANTA FILOMENA is a national honorary group for Student Nurses recognizing achievement and promoting leadership. Members are tapped once a year. Not only is scholarship important in the choosing of these students, but also the ways in which they have proven themselves outstanding nurses. At the banding ceremony each August, a small gold pin is presented to each new member in recognition of their very exceptional bedside nursing. The purpose of this organization is to promote better nursing and higher nursing standards.

In Memoriam

With unrelenting crescendo, the symphony of a life replete with melodic progression hastens to its finale. And a friendship that is ours to share, with its "largos" and "allegros" moves everlasting; onward in sweet memories.

Editor's Note

Early in my Freshman year I was taught the importance of teamwork—a word that I can truly appreciate now that our work is completed on the 1963 Nightingale.

Thanks is a small word to all the people who have given of their time, energy, thought, money, tears, and laughter. But, nevertheless, it is a word I use.

The girls on the staff—Linda, Peggy, Harriet, Dianne, Marilyn, and Wanda—go to bed girls and get some sleep. To our advisors Mrs. Rosenthal and Mrs. Scoggin—their gray hairs have increased tenfold!

The photography staff at Mitchell's—Bob, Barbara, L.A., and you, too, Cookie—no more last minute phone calls. Mr. Ed Goldston who worked so closely with us on our layout—no more hurried trips to Raleigh.

Mrs. Cloninger who must have hiked 500 miles around the campus with our photographers. The Senior Class who sold many dollars worth of ads. Hunter Publishing Company for their patience and understanding.

To the underclassmen I have a special message—Good luck and I hope you enjoy reading the 1963 Nightingale.

Becky
